RESUME OF WILLIAM J. WALSH

William J. Walsh, Lieutenant, United States Navy, was born in Wyandotte, Michigan in 1954. Upon graduation from high school, he enlisted into the United States Navy and trained to become a Data Processing Technician. Initial assignment was to the Naval Security Group Activity, National Security Agency, Ft. Meade, Maryland, as a Computer Programmer/Systems Analyst. In 1975 he applied and was accepted for the Navy Enlisted Scientific Education Program.

After receiving a Bachelor of Science degree in Applied Science from Miami University of Ohio, he entered the Naval Flight Program and in 1979 was designated as a Naval Flight Officer. Next stop was the P-3C Fleet Replacement Squadron in Jacksonville, Florida, and then to his first Operational Squadron.

From 1979 to 1983, he was assigned to Patrol Squadron Sixteen, where he qualified as a Patrol Plane Navigator, Tactical Coordinator, Mission Commander, and Instructor Tactical Coordinator. Other duties performed during this time period were Squadron Duty Officer, Command Duty Officer, Personnel Officer, and Readiness Officer.

In 1983, he reported as a student to the Naval Postgraduate School and received a Master of Science Degree in Operations Research in 1985.

From 1985 to 1987, he was assigned to the Combat Information Center of the USS America, (CV-66). During his time on board, he qualified as an Anti-Submarine Warfare Watch Officer/Evaluator, Combat Information Center Watch Officer, Ships Weapons Coordinator, Tactical Action Officer, OOD (in port), and ACDO (in port).

In 1987, he joined the faculty of the Naval Postgraduate School, where he is an Instructor in the Operations Research Department. He is a member of the Operations Research Society of America (ORSA) and of the Scientific Research Society (Sigma Xi).
